SCENIC DRIVES

RHODE ISLAND COASTLINE

Take US 1A to Scenic Rte 1A, also called the Shore Road Highway. Make a detour in the town of Charlestown to visit Dave's Coffee at 5193 Old Post Road. Back on the road, US 1 runs east from Charlestown. The next exit allows access to the 800-acre Trustum Pond National Wildlife Refuge, a popular destination for both visitors and locals to explore a unique habitat that features the state's only undeveloped salt pond, as well as a nesting and resting site for migratory birds.

Past the town of Wakefield, turn south on Rhode Island Highway 108, and travel for four miles to the RI 108 and US 1A junction. At the junction, take a right turn to detour to Point Judith and one of the area's most historic lighthouses. Continuing on from Point Judith, follow US 1A north for six miles to Narragansett Pier. The highway winds along the coastline, between beautiful beach homes and popular beaches.

Continue north, until reaching Rhode Island Highway 138. Turn right on RI 138 and travel over the 1.5 mile Jamestown Bridge to Conanicut Island. On Conanicut Island, Beavertail State Park sits atop the island's rocky tip and offers spectacular ocean views, with the surf crashing against the cliffs below.

Following RI 138 east, you'll come to the Newport Bridge, a suspension bridge arcing over the East Passage. A couple miles long, the bridge descends as you enter the famous sailing city of Newport. After crossing the bridge, head south on Rhode Island Highway 238 (Farewell Street), before turning left on Memorial Boulevard, which becomes RI 138A. After driving east, park on the east side of Newport along a breakwater that separates Easton Pond from ocean waters. There you'll find The Cliff Walk a 3-mile trail along the cliff top between Rhode Island Sound and the historic Newport mansions. To finish the scenic drive, head south from Memorial Boulevard on Bellevue Avenue past the mansions to Ocean Avenue and enjoy the drive along the south coast of the island.

CONNECTICUT RIVER LOOP

Begin at the Florence Griswold Museum, at 96 Lyme Street in Old Lyme, CT. Take I-95 South, one exit, to Rte 9N (Exit 69). Take Exit 2 and follow Rte 154 N/Middlesex Turnpike. On this road you will find the Essex Steam Train and Riverboat, the only steam train and riverboat connection in the country.

Continue to follow 154 N as it winds along the Connecticut River and through the New England towns of Essex, Centerbrook, Deep River, Chester, Haddam and East Haddam. You may choose to spend some time in these towns browsing the unique shops and dining at quaint bistros.

Alternate Route

In Chester, at the junction of Rte 148, you can turn right to take the Chester-Hadlyme Ferry across the river or turn left for a short side trip to the quaint Chester Village Center. Once you've crossed the river follow Rte 148 out to Rte 82 and follow along with the rest of the route below. If you decide not to take the ferry, continue north on 154, turn right onto Bridge Road/Rte 82 to cross the East Haddam Bridge—a beautiful steel swing truss bridge (you may have noticed this bridge while driving along Rte 154). Immediately after crossing the bridge you will be in East Haddam and will see the historic Goodspeed Opera House where the musical "Annie" was born.

Follow Rte 82 through Hadlyme to the junction of Rte 156 south into Lyme. These winding country roads are dotted with farms, antique shops and beautiful vistas. Continue following Rte 156 into Old Lyme. At the junction of Halls Road, you can make a left to return to the Florence Griswold Museum.

ESSEX RIVERBOAT

MYSTIC AND STONINGTON

Starting in Mystic (from Mystic Seaport, Olde Mistick Village, Mystic Aquarium) travel along Rte 27 (Whitehall Avenue) north into Old Mystic. At the three-way stop sign—you'll see Old Mystic General Store at the intersection—keep to the right, following Main Street. At the fork, stay to your right to continue onto North Stonington Road.

Continue on North Stonington Road and at the intersection of Rte 184 (also called New London Turnpike) make a right. Follow this road for a few miles, taking in the scenery along the way. Turn right onto Taugwonk Road (you will see a blue CT Wine Trail sign). Stonington Vineyards will be about a mile down on the right. After a tasting a tour, continue south along Taugwonk and make a left onto Pequot Trail/Rte 234 (a state designated scenic road). After traveling a few miles, turn right onto South Anguilla Road, a quiet, scenic neighborhood road. At the end of this road, make a right onto Rte 1/Stonington Road. Once on Rte 1 you can take a detour to Barn Island Wildlife Management Area, offering excellent hiking and birding (make your first left onto Greenhaven and first right onto Palmer Neck Road; follow to end).

Continue following Rte 1, a scenic coastal drive. Make time to stop at Saltwater Farm Vineyard, for another unique Connecticut winery experience. Travel approximately one mile and make a right onto North Main Street. Along this tree-lined road you'll find several grand historic homes that are wonderful illustrations of New England architecture. At the end of North Main Street make a left onto Pequot Trail (Rte 234; this is the lower part of the same scenic road you were on earlier). This road winds through beautiful countryside with some amazing vistas along the way.
