

Local Inn helps us get in touch with our ecosystem

The Rhode Show

Published: July 13, 2016, 9:36 am

During the Summer months, many look for local getaways where they can completely disconnect and just take in nature, well the Weekapaug Inn offers just the spot.

Weekapaug is a historic, intimate and authentic inn on the Rhode Island shoreline, steeped in history. First opened in 1899, the Inn is now a member of Relais & Châteaux, an association that sets the gold standard for unique, high-end and independent hotels and restaurants around the world.

Weekapaug Inn's Naturalist, Mark Bullinger, joined The Rhode Show Wednesday to discuss the property's new Touch Tank, which allows guests to see live sea creatures that have been collected throughout the day from around the pond up close.

Share this:

